THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

THE UNITED KINGDOM—(Continued).

The latest returns show that the duty of 10s. per gallon at proof strength on home-made spirits had been paid on 29,224,474 gallons in 12 months ending in 1885. This is an increase in the year of 1,329,747 gallons. The Customs returns show that the equivalent duty is paid upon proof gallons of the following spirits:—Brandy, 3,981,918; rum, 4,084,007; gin, 2,971,881; spirits not rectified or mixed, 1,048,237; malted or mixed, 34,920 gallons; and liquors, cordials, &c., 29,921. There are three classes of wine in the Customs scale; the quantities imported are as follows:—Under 20 degrees of proof spirit, 1s. per gallon, 8,804,429 gallons; ditto 49 ditto ditto, 2s. 6d., 7,134,566 gallons; above 49 ditto ditto, 3s. 6d., 1,379 gallons; and 5s. additional for each degree above 41. As to the liquor in general use in the different parts of the United Kingdom, it is pretty notorious that malt liquors are the principal beverages in England, and spirits in Scotland and Ireland. The excise returns furnish an index to the proportions in which beer and British spirits are consumed in each of these divisions. They give the total quantities and the average per head of the population since 1870. But they are necessarily confined to British spirits, because the distribution of foreign spirits within the United Kingdom cannot be traced. The abolition of the malt duty in 1881 interfered with the uniformity of the returns as to beer, because formerly the returns gave bushels of malt, and now they give barrels of beer, and continue to be obtained only by multiplying the number of barrels of malt by two to get the barrels of beer, or the bushels divided by two for the number of barrels of beer. The comparative consumption of beer per head of the population for the last 15 years is illustrated by the following figures:—

BEER PER HEAD OF THE POPULATION.
	England.	Scotland.	Ireland.
1870	1.245	0.740	0.540
1875	1.297	0.750	0.544
1880	1.328	0.765	0.549
1882	1.352	0.780	0.554
1885	1.378	0.795	0.559

The following figures for the same years illustrate the comparative consumption of British spirits:—

GALLONS OF SPIRITS.
	England.	Scotland.	Ireland.
1870	1.045	0.219	0.147
1875	1.078	0.219	0.147
1880	1.041	0.218	0.146
1882	1.046	0.217	0.145
1885	1.042	0.214	0.142

It is curious to note the interchange of home-made spirits between the three parts of the United Kingdom:—England receives from Scotland 4,258,929 gallons, Scotland receives from England 110,455 gallons, Scotland receives from Ireland 168,054 gallons, Ireland receives from England 121,854 gallons, Ireland receives from Scotland 290,878 gallons. The quantities distilled and the quantities charged with duty for consumption in each portion of the Kingdom respectively, are as follows:—

	Distilled.	Charged.
England	10,651,749	10,651,749
Scotland	20,810,961	6,239,726
Ireland	6,239,726	6,239,726

Total 41,000,436 .. 23,121,201

The exports turned two million gallons in 1880-1, reached 2,800,000 in 1881-2 and 1882-3, but stood at 2,600,000 in 1883-4 and 1884-5. This is exclusive of methylated spirits.

The year 1880 was as memorable a year in the history of this question as was 1830—both are epochs. In 1830 was made the great experiment of opening the trade in beer by permit. A similar case is now being tried in the case of spirits. The object aimed at was to diminish the evils of spirit-drinking by encouraging the use of beer. The results were such that in 1839 the beer-houses were required to be licensed by the magistrates, and the number of beer-houses has since been greatly reduced. Just as in 1839 the object was to substitute a beverage of less alcoholic strength for spirit, so in 1880 it was the desire of Mr. Gladstone to supersede to some extent the use of spirits and of strong wines by the introduction of light French wines. The duties on British and on foreign spirits were then equalised and fixed at 10s. per gallon, plus a tax on foreign spirits equal to the loss on the home distiller by excise reduction. With very slight exceptions there have been no changes in the rate of spirit duty since 1860; but there have been remarkable fluctuations in the produce of the tax. In the year 1880-1 the excise spirit duties amounted to 21,350,000. In 1875-6 they had grown to 21,350,000. In 1870-1 the tax on alcohol had reached its highest point. The revenue decrease that has occurred since, in spite of the increase in population, are the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, "is most striking and can hardly fail to be considered a convincing proof of the growth of temperance." In illustration they give the following figures:—

	1860-1.	1875-6.	1880-1.
Customs, &c. (Foreign Spirits and Wine)	4,912,197	7,894,373	5,547,037
Excise (British Spirits)	5,718,194	10,651,749	10,651,749
Excise (Foreign Spirits)	10,437,183	15,142,227	15,142,227
Total	21,067,574	33,688,349	31,340,993

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1892.
In proposing a reduction in our very large...

therefore be received with satisfaction, the country will demand at the same time that reductions shall be made with judgment so that our military establishment, whether large or small, may rest upon a sound basis. The intentions of the Government, as expressed in the above resolutions, are a war footing, and they are to be brought down to a peace footing. Reckoning the arm of the service, we now possess, on paper at all events, an army of 10,000 men, and the COLONIAL SECRETARY is right when he states that forces of such magnitude are not quired. We can do very well with a small number of infantry, and the reserve force must not be maintained on its present basis. Naval Brigade may also perhaps be reduced with advantage; but when we come to Permanent Artillery and the Torpedo C

What we have to fear is not an invasion with an object of making a conquest of this country, but a naval attack upon our primary port and city. For repelling the attack, we must look mainly, if not entirely, to our artillery and torpedo forces. Everything will depend upon the way in which the fortifications are manned, and the torpedoes worked. The drill necessary to enable the torpedoes efficient as weapons of defence, is not learnt in a day. Prolonged training is required in both cases, and especially in torpedo service. The complaints which have recently been made against our military organisation have been directed almost entirely to the artillery and torpedo branches; if defects exist they cannot be cured by simply reducing numbers. In fact, the artillery and torpedo forces must not only be well drilled but they must be of ample numerical strength or they will be of little service in the future.

footing and a peace footing, but neither provision is applicable to forces required for harbour defence. If they are to be of any value at all they must always be kept at full strength, or nearly so. In fact

It would be difficult to conceive a clearer, more positive, or more emphatic expression of opinion than this; and coming, as it does, from such source, may be readily accepted as a sound one. Mr. Brewster, however, has arrived at the conclusion that "the marks of the Lord Chief Justice on the subject of privileges are directly in conflict with the law of England;" and he does not hesitate to speak of them as "loose and inaccurate—misleading, and even incorrect." On the well-known principle that a cat may look at a king, there can be no reason why a member of the colonial Bar should not criticize a Lord Chief Justice of England; and the presumption is, as to which of the

A little of our population. Mr. Dinne did not approve of that suggestion, and neither will the public. It is probable that the Government will be willing to purchase the machinery submitted two proposals to the representatives—one was to convey the night-soil from Botany pier ten miles out to sea and there discharge it. He stated that a firm had offered to do this work with properly-constructed vessels for £220 a year; and that the Government were willing to purchase the machinery at the wharf and collect the contributions from the several municipalities interested and pay them to the contractors. The other proposal was to carry the material to a 40-acre farm at Homebush owned by Messrs. BAXTER and TRESEDER, who have expressed their willingness to allow it to be deposited there for temporary storage. The Government have been requested to consider

The English mail by the Orient Steamship Company's steamer Orient was delivered from the General Post Office yesterday morning. We publish in another page our London letter.

A TELEGRAM has been received by the Colonial Secretary from the Agent-General in London, stating that the German ship, Albatross, called for drydock on the 28th of September with 659 emigrants, 267 of whom are adults. The number of single women on board is 261.

The North German Lloyd's steamer Lubek returned from Tongatapu and Samoa last night on a successful voyage. Captain Schmolder reports that the advent of the Lubek was the cause of considerable rejoicing at both ports touched at, viz. Nukunono and Apia. The

Mr. SHERRATT, of the Goodenough Royal Naval Home, reports that during the month of September the number of men who took advantage of the sleeping accommodation provided in the house was 119; showing an increase of 73 on the previous month. Since the house was reopened under the new system in August the sleepers have numbered 3812. In the early part of last month, during the period known to occur as "general leave, scores of men had come to the house simply for the night, for no accommodation, and were left for Trafalgar House. Mr. Sherratt's Mission House, where 1071 have slept during the past two months, the number mentioned would also have been unprovided for. These

In connection with the proposal to establish a ferry between Erskine-street wharf and Balmain, it was stated in the report of the last committee meeting the Sydney Municipal Council that the petition in favour of that object was opposed in a letter by Messrs J. Watson and Co., who also suggested that the present arrangements were sufficient to meet the requirements of the public. This statement, which was intended to have reference to the facilities for horses and vehicles to ply between Sydney and Balmain by means of the ferries and bridges, does not fully represent what Messrs Watson and Co. said. These gentlemen, after expressing their opinion that the petition may be easily obtained, asked the Council:

The district of Riverstone, which was formerly attached to the parish of St. Matthew's, Windsor, was transferred to the parish of Castle Hill with the Hill and Dural. The Rev. C. King, B.A., who will reside at Rouse Hill, will be the curate in charge, and the Rev. C. H. Gibson, M.A.

The Cumberland Board, Parramatta, held an annual picnic at Chowder Bay, on Thursday last, and conveyed thither by a special steamer. About 1,000 persons were present and a very pleasant day was spent, the capital music supplied by the band of the 1st New South Wales Cavalry.

The English mail by the Orient Steamship Company's steamer Orient was delivered from the General Post Office yesterday morning. We publish in another page our London letter.

A TELEGRAM has been received by the Colonial Secretary from the Agent-General in London, stating that the German ship, Albatross, called for drydock on the 28th of September with 659 emigrants, 267 of whom are adults. The number of single women on board is 261.

The North German Lloyd's steamer Lubek returned from Tongatapu and Samoa last night on a successful voyage. Captain Schmolder reports that the advent of the Lubek was the cause of considerable rejoicing at both ports touched at, viz. Nukunono and Apia. The

Mr. SHERRATT, of the Goodenough Royal Naval Home, reports that during the month of September the number of men who took advantage of the sleeping accommodation provided in the house was 119; showing an increase of 73 on the previous month. Since the house was reopened under the new system in August the sleepers have numbered 3812. In the early part of last month, during the period known to occur as "general leave, scores of men had come to the house simply for the night, for no accommodation, and were left for Trafalgar House. Mr. Sherratt's Mission House, where 1071 have slept during the past two months, the number mentioned would also have been unprovided for. These

In connection with the proposal to establish a ferry between Erskine-street wharf and Balmain, it was stated in the report of the last committee meeting the Sydney Municipal Council that the petition in favour of that object was opposed in a letter by Messrs J. Watson and Co., who also suggested that the present arrangements were sufficient to meet the requirements of the public. This statement, which was intended to have reference to the facilities for horses and vehicles to ply between Sydney and Balmain by means of the ferries and bridges, does not fully represent what Messrs Watson and Co. said. These gentlemen, after expressing their opinion that the petition may be easily obtained, asked the Council:

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE TURF.

Another day of inaction is (says Thursday's Argus) to be reported with respect to the betting market. There was yesterday absolutely nothing doing on either the Derby or the Caulfield and Melbourne cups. The double of the two cups affords the only sign of an attempt to do business; but as all the Tridents money is gone for the Melbourne Cup, backers are not by any means inclined to couple anything with the best of the Caulfield Cup candidates. A duller time, in fact, was never known, considering that the V.A.T.C. meeting is now on, and the Melbourne meeting is at the forthcoming meeting of the V.R.C. Co. will have 11 horses to represent him.

Suggestion has been made to the English John Club by the well-known horse owner and trainer, Mr. John Porter, to subsidize the Derby to the extent of £5000, and increase the entrance fee from 50 to 100 guineas, and to allow, half forfeit, which is estimated would make the prize something like £10,000.

The following horses have been scratched for all engagements at the Canterbury Park meeting on Monday next: Noble, Elbert, Broughton, and Fiddling, and Minicomb for the Ladies' Prize.

In our advertising columns will be found all particulars as to special trains and ordinary trains for the Canterbury Park races on Monday next.

St. Gaten will finish his racing career on the English turf at the end of the present season. On Monday next, there should be a good sport to-day at Rose Hill, where the Cumberland Hunt Club hold their race meeting. Special trains will leave Rose Hill at 11.30 a.m., 11.45 a.m., and 12.15 p.m. Those who prefer to go to the race will have a fine view of the special steamer, which leaves King-street wharf at 11.30 a.m. The first race will start at 1 o'clock.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs the following results for the V.A.T.C. meeting:—Trotting Handicap: East. Steeplechase: Native. Maiden Plate: Koorby. A portion of the race was run on the Melbourne track, and the result was in charge of T. Payne. It included Yokomo, Acme, Tamarak, Poulton, Sumatra, and Aberdeen.

SPECIAL SALE D

EPSON ESTATE.

PERTH, WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

Only awaiting the influx of population to make the sale of that CITY attain the importance and value of some of our own.

That COLONY has unmistakably attracted the notice of ENGLISH CAPITALISTS, ARTISANS, and OTHERS, many of whom have already arrived, and the stream of passengers constantly enlarges. As a result of this will naturally give rise to employment and where will be greatest advance in price.

IN THE MURCHES OF PERTH,

THE TOWNSHIP OF EPSON

is notified to the notice of speculators and those who desire to invest for money.

FRONTAGES TO SWAN RIVER

to the MAIL ROAD, and FRONTAGES TO GUILDFORD.

It is almost adjoining the PERTH RACECOURSE, and the proposed line of RAILWAY EXTENSION TO CANBY DISTRICT, almost touches the property. Buyers may have choice of position and the effect of this will naturally give rise to employment and where will be greatest advance in price.

In view of the comparative fortunes that have been made of purchases of lands in new countries, those who have sold cannot be deemed to have been in a wrong colony, possess all the elements to insure its marked prosperity.

containing 817 ACRES, ROADS AND 15 PERCHES of LAND, securely fenced, and subdivided by sheep-proof fences into various paddocks, and particularly described below.

The other improvements comprise Terrara House with grounds, Cottages, ranges of Stabling, and other outbuildings.

RICHARDSON AND WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on

FRIDAY, the 5th of NOVEMBER next,

The above choice agricultural and grazing estate, in lots, as under:—

LOT 1, TERRARA HOUSE and Grounds, with various improvements. The dwelling is built of stone (cemented) and weatherboards, with verandah of side and rear, and contains eight rooms, 3 storey pantry, servants' hall, 2 kitchens, washhouse, and a detached from the main house, a brick cottage containing four bedrooms, whilst in the stone enclosure a substantially built dairy with loft over. Adjoining a large brick building, covered with hay racks and accommodated for 6 vehicles, whilst the other end is fitted up for large mastheads.

Having been used as a horse-breeding establishment for 20 years, the stabling on the premises is extensive and perfect, and the whole of the estate is so extensive and perfect, and all housework for some 60 families, besides many of sheep, horses, and harness, blacksmiths' shop, and a range of stables with large large storerooms over. Adjoining a range of stables are stallion yards.

The Orchard is fully planted with various sorts of fruit trees, full bearing, and the whole garden being well watered at all times a plentiful supply of vegetables, &c.

For Fattening or Dairy Purposes we have no hesitation in saying that the property is superior to anything in New South Wales. It was nearly all laid down in English clover, and all housework for some 60 families, besides many of sheep, horses, and harness, blacksmiths' shop, and a range of stables with large large storerooms over. Adjoining a range of stables are stallion yards.

Transport is at present carried on by means of a reefer steamer from the Greenwall Point and Terrara Wharf, the being only 1 mile from the Homestead.

LOT 2,--Containing 15 acres 2 roods of rich land, having an area of 100 Acres, the Shoolavane River, recently on a crop of Indian corn.
